Space Twins Orbited On 8-Day Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) - The Gemini spacecraft hurtled into the second of its 120 orbits of the earth at 11:40 a.m. EDT today.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla., (AP) — The Gemini 5 astronauts rocketed into orbit today on the start of a marathon satellite-chasing mission that could push the United States past a significant milestone on the race to the moon.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr., the veteran astronaut making his second trip into space, and Charles Conrad Jr., the tattooed rookie, planned to ride their cramped space ship around and around the earth in an eightday weightless world.

This is three days longer than any man, American or Russian, has been in space, and is equal to the time planned for the first U.S.-manned lunar landing flight.

Before parachuting to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean a week from Sunday, Cooper and Conrad are to circle the globe 121 times and travel a record 3.12 million miles. Medical experts were confident the flight will erase any lingering doubts about man's ability to survive long enough in space to rocket to the moon and return. Early in the flight, during the second orbit about two hours after liftoff, the astronauts planned to launch their own satel-lite, ejecting it with explosive devices from an equipment bay at the base of the capsule.

The satellite, which Cooper and Conrad have dubbed "Little Rascal," will be used in man's first attempt to rendezvous with another orbiting project.*

The technique must be perfected before man heads for the miles an hour.

The United States now has The pulse-pounding flight started at 10 a.m. (EDT) after the first perfect countdown in Grissom—twice for a total of 12 the U.S. man-in-space program.

VALUABLE ADVICE If you are using do-it-yourchemicals in your 'Battle of the bugs", do not spray oil-based insecticides near open flames, sparks or electrical circuits. Never spray them on silk, rayon or other fabrics that stain easily. Do not spray them on asphalt tile floors . . . they will desolve the asphalt . . . they will also soften and discolor some linoleums and certain plastic materials. If you apply one of these insecticides to the cracks in a parquet floor, apply it lightly . an excessive amount will dissolve the underlying black cement and the dissolved cement will stain the floor.

POISON! BEWARE!

In general, most insecticides are poisonous to people and to animals. Keep all insecticides where children and pets cannot use them. When applying them, do not contaminate foods. dishes or kitchen utensils. Do not store them with food do not breathe too much of the spray mist or the dust. Apply insecticides to infants sweaters, blankets or other woolen articles only if they are to be stored. Launder or clean them before returning

Chance To Improve An Image

Gov. Rhodes' signature on the hotly contested strip mine bill guarantees Ohioans some relief from the unconscionable landravaging practices of those who have left the unsightly trademark of their business etched on the countryside.

It also gives strip miners a chance to improve a badly battered image.

In November, when the new law becomes effective, strip mine operators will be under legal obligation to do a better job of reclaiming the land they gouge for profit and of preventing further pollution of streams.

THEY WILL be required to submit reclamation, requiring additional planting if needed and denying licenses in areas he is convinced cannot be reclaimed properly.

Operators will have to post higher performance bonds and license and acreage fees, increasing the stakes for those who, in the past, have gambled on hit and run profits.

The face of the strip mine areas will not change overnight. Thousands of acres, stripped before Ohio had a law, have become the state's responsibility and reclamation is proceeding slowly.

The hideous high walls remaining at the last mining cut will not disappear. The muscular strip mine and coal lobbies made sure of that when they successfully sapped the bill of much of its strength, including a provision to eliminate the high walls.

THE PORTION of the strip mine industry that fought the hardest to defeat the bill is the portion that has been doing the least to restore the land to usable condition. Other responsible operators consistently have done more than the present law requires and we hope they will continue to do so.

Those who helped blacken the name of the industry by the tactics they used in fighting enactment of this law can help redeem themselves by complying fully with its provisions.

And if the industry is concerned about improving its public image, it could take a big step in that direction by beginning immediately, instead of waiting until November, to implement the new mining and relcamation practices.

The Next Question

With the money involved, it's only proper for the State Highway Department to insist that the "high" and "low" spots are eliminated from the new concrete surface of St. Clair Ave.

But regardless of these minor blemishes, those who have used the three-lane highway have expressed only amazement and distinct pleasure over the transition that has taken place.

The new road is as different as night is to day from the pock-marked one that formerly bore the name of St. Clair.

The big question now is: What can we do and how soon can we get started on improving the lower end of the avenue from the downtown section out?

Keep It Current

The gathering of House Republicans at former President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm turned out to be something less than a picnic, politically speaking.

As he has been known to do in the past, Eisenhower disarmed his own party at a time it was hunting ammunition for a political scrap - this time by scotching reports of differences with President Johnson over U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The House Republicans are smarting under a recent statement by Johnson that the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam "is just the same today as the commitment made by President Eisenhower to President Diem in 1954."

THINKING ahead to the political campaigns, the GOP would like to be able to throw its barbs at President Johnson on the Viet Nam involvement and be sure they won't boomerang with Johnson saying his policy is simply an extension of the policies initiated by Eisenhower. So House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, in the wake of the deflation from Ike, has vowed to produce a "white paper" to document U.S. commitments to Viet Nam under Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

This may be quite an undertaking, since none of those administrations, including the present Johnson administration, ever has been very candid about their policies in Viet Nam or what they were trying to accomplish.

Beyond that, it is difficult for us to see just what the GOP will gain by this documentation.

Ike, who still insists on calling the shots as he sees them, was on the beam when he told the House GOP contingent: "Circumstances today are far different from 10 years ago."

IT MAKES little difference today which administration got us tied to the Viet Nam powder keg. It wasn't President Johnson, although he has, unquestionably, deepened our involvement.

If the Republicans are looking for a campaign issue in Viet Nam, they'll have to limit it to something Johnson has or hasn't done there.

Another hot spot on the "Strip" has been stripped of its license.

This time it is Club Paddock on Route 30 which has drawn a suspension as the result of a beer violation and gaming device charges.

The suspension is for 15 days - just long enough for the club to do some summer housecleaning and be ready for the gamblers and imbibers again when the two-week period elapses.

It makes for a cozy arrangement.

The labor men, who have had long conversations with some of rebel leader Bosch's closest aides also state that he played with the Communists in an effort to bolster his own strength

When Bosch was in power as president, I have been told, he and his aides attempted to build "revoluntionary labor arm" of his party.

PROF. BOSCH planned to create a fighting force to hurl against his opponents. The "troops" would have come from the merger of Communist and anti-Communist unions into a federation controlled by his Dominican Revolutionary party.

No one insinuates that the now violently anti-U.S. Juan Bosch was a Communist. The labor men here, most of whom were his friends during his days of exile years ago, states that he believed that he could "handle" the Moscow and Castro and Peking machines. and strongest supporters of the U.S. and later the O.A.S. policies in the Dominican Republic is the leader of 29 million unionized workers belonging to affiliates throughout the Western Hemisphere. He is Arturo Jauregui, secretary general of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT).

It was he who revealed to this reporter the list of statements by one of Prof. Bosch's closest collaborators and partners in politics. The latter is Angel Miolan, who, as general secretary ran Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party. It's Miolan who recently told Jauregui that Bosch had "played" with the Communists and that Bosch had told him to work with them.

Miolan himself has a long and frank record of pro - Communist activity. In addition to Miolan there is a reported mystery man who advised Bosch on creating a merged revolutionary labor movement in which the Communist - controlled federation, called La Union, would play a strong part. This mystery man now is in New York.

THERE CAN BE no doubt that partisans of Moscow, Havana and Peking still are active in what is euphemistically called the rebel zone.

Just a few days ago each group ran a "pleno" (plenum). The evidence, and in detailed form, is here and in the hands of the indefatigable Andy Mc-Lellan, in Washington where he heads the AFL-CIO Inter-American Department and is special aide to George Meany on Latin

Meany then said bluntly that this support would continue only as long as Bosch kept the Dominican labor movement free of any control by any force-be it government or party. Bosc gave his word that Dominican labor always would be free. Then after his inauguration, he permitted his two top advisers, Miolan and the mystery man, to pressure the anti-Communist unions into merging with the Communists.

It's time for another confrontation between Bosch and the anti - Communist labor leaders. Out of this would come the reasons for the swift U.S. moves in Santo Domingo.

pened before in political history, there's going to be an realign-million persons of voting age in the United States, but the number voting in presidential elections in recent years has not exceeded 64 per cent — it was 62 per cent in 1964. So it would appear that there are at least 43 million citizens who don't go to the polls. Even if the Negroes have not been voting to any appreciable extent in the South, it's probably that a majority of them have been voting in the North. But the total number of Negroes of voting age in the United States is not more than about 11 million, so an additional four or five million Negro votes have to be compared with the possibility of registering and getting to the polls an additional white vote of 38 million.

Scranton's Fight

By Richard Dougherty

William Scranton, who can speak with authority on such matters, says that he doesn't like being "bloodied" in the strange world of politics. However he maintains that it's an experience he happily will endure if it helps to get the GOP back into the main ring as a contender against the Demo-

As things stand now there is little question about the lean, patrician Pennsylvanian coming in for a full share of "bloodying." What remains in question is whether the sacrifice will prove to have been worthwhile.

The governor, last year's leader of a desperate late-hour effect to block the nomination of Barry Goldwater at San Francisco, believes that the sacrifice will pay off. It's a solid Scranton conviction, reached after months of reflection, that the "radical fringe" of GOP conservatism must go, and that the only way to start it moving in this direction is to make it

The governor's recent speech in Miami was the opening of what will doubtless be a longterm effort aimed at elevating right wing tempers to the point where they will quit the GOP. Barring a change of heart by the governor - which seems unlikely - the nation is about to witness a calculated effort by an extremely reserved and wellmannered politician to play the role of the taunting gladiator. As those who know him can testify, this is a role the articulate Scranton can play with considerable skill. He can be both witty and harsh when he wish es, even though harshness does not come easily to him. Scranton detractors have never questioned his ability as a fighter — when he is fighting. It's only when he decides that he doesn't want to fight that he shows up badly. As of now the governor's closest associates are ready to bet anything that he is in this fight to stay. What is the fight all about? In the Scranton view it's purely and simply a struggle to rid the Republican party of an ideological albatross. The governor is convinced that so long as the Goldwater idealogues - now regrouping under the newlyformed Free Society Association -remain a relative power in the GOP there is no hope of the party becoming a major force in national politics. The Scranton thesis is that only when the GOP has rid itself of the extreme right influence can it begin again to appeal to the millions of swing voters, Democrats and independents, who regularly tip the scales in national elections.

A triumph by Rep. John Lindsay in New York's mayoralty this November would give the Scranton crusade a big lift, still another lift could come from seeing Sen. Thomas Kuchel return to California and crush conservative hopes of electing ultraconservative Ronald Reagan to the governorship.

Two victories of this magnitude would not mean automatic ascendancy of the Scranton movement at the next national convention. Bu t they would make it fairly obvious that the Pennsylvanian's argument has merit.

The labor men here, most of whom were his friends during his days of exile years ago, states that he believed that he could "handle" the Moscow and Castro and Peking machines. That's why he permitted them to return to Santo Domingo through his "open door policy" after they had been exiled by the previous govern-

Thus when Bosch gave the signal for the revolt last spring, the Communists were in a position to move disciplined squads into the anti-Communist labor headquarters, the radio and television facilities, the telephone and cable exchanges, the power plants, banks, docks, warehouses and command posts on key city blocks.

Well informed labor men believe this was actually accom-revolution began. Thus, virtually all Latin labor chiefs heartily approve the swift U.S. moves in Santo Domingo.

ONE OF THE BEST informed and strongest supporters of the U.S. and later the O.A.S. policies in the Dominican Republic is the leader of 29 million unionized workers belonging to affiliates throughout the Western Hemisphere. He is Arturo Jauregui, secretary general of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT).

It was he who revealed to this reporter the list of statements by one of Prof. Bosch's closest collaborators and partners in politics. The latter is Angel Miolan, who, as general secretary ran Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party. It's Miolan who recently told Jauregui that Bosch had "played" with the Communists and that Bosch had told him to work with them.

Miolan himself has a long and frank record of pro - Communist activity. In addition to Miolan there is a reported mystery man who advised Bosch on creating a merged revolutionary labor movement in which the Communist - controlled federa tion, called La Union, would play a strong part. This mystery man now is in New York.

THERE CAN BE no doubt that partisans of Moscow, Havana and Peking still are active in what is euphemistically called the rebel zone.

Just a few days ago each group ran a "pleno" (plenum). The evidence, and in detailed form, is here and in the hands of the indefatigable Andy Mc-Lellan, in Washington where he heads the AFL-CIO Inter-American Department and is special aide to George Meany on Latin

During the plenos, the Communist blocs dropped their innocent front names. The Dominican Popular Socialist party changed its name to the Communist party of the Dominican Republic. This outfit is pro-Maoist

At about the same time the Dominican Popular Movement, which bows towards Moscow, renamed itself the Party of Marx and Lenin.

THE SUPPORTERS of Prof. Bosch say that he never had intended to permit the Communists to operate. But this is negated by what transpired during two confrontations with George Meany, the AFL-CIO president in Washington during January,

Bosch then was Dominican president-elect. He had come to the U.S. seeking support. In Mr. Meany's office he thanked the American labor chief for the support given him through the years. Meany then said bluntly that this support would continue only as long as Bosch kept the Dominican labor movement free of any control by any force-be it government or party. Bosc gave his word that Dominican labor always would be free. Then after his inauguration, he permitted his two top advisers, Miolan and the mystery man, to pressure the anti-Communist unions into merging with the Communists.

It's time for another confrontation between Bosch and the anti - Communist labor leaders. Out of this would come the reasons for the swift U.S. moves in Santo Domingo.

The average human brain functions at its best when outdoor temperatures range between 30 and 40 degrees Fahrenheit, according to certain recent experiments.

The fragrance of flowers is due to special essences or oils which the plants produce. These oils are complicated compounds of only two elements - carbon and hydrogen - and are known as volatile oils, since they escape readily into the air.

go over to the R e publican David Lawrence side. For one thing, while federal officials are concentrating on registering Negroes, the registration of whites could multiply to unprecedented heights.

There are approximately 114 million persons of voting age in the United States, but the number voting in presidential elections in recent years has not exceeded 64 per cent — it was 62 per cent in 1964. So it would appear that there are at least 43 million citizens who don't go to the polls. Even if the Negroes have not been voting to any appreciable extent in the South. it's probably that a majority of them have been voting in the North. But the total number of Negroes of voting age in the United States is not more than about 11 million, so an additional four or five million Negro votes have to be compared with the possibility of registering and getting to the polls an additional white vote of 38 million.

FT'S INTERESTING to observe that the Negro population outside the South is concentrated in certain large cities like New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore, St. Louis and Cleveland, and it's in the North where the shifting pattern may emerge. If more white citizens decide to go to the polls, they could have a sufficient number to more than offset any Negro vote and actually to cast a larger protest vote on the civil rights issue than has been recorded at the polls in recent history on any issue involving nationwide controversies. There have been some evidences already of "bloc voting" by whites in areas heavily populated by Ne-Philadelphia and Cleveland, for example.

It so happens that the metropolitan centers are largely Democratic. If there is an exodus of Democrats in substantial numbers from their party in the big cities, this will surely have an adverse effect on the chances of the Democratic party to carry congressional seats. WHAT IS significant is the current change in public reaction to civil rights legislation which has been developing. It's growing more intense every day as the headlines tell of people being killed and property being looted and burned. Many white citizens fear for the safety of their families, especially in the cities across the land where few of them were conscious of the race problem until the heavy migration of Negroes from the South to other areas got under way just a few years ago.

What happened recently in the riots in Los Angeles and Chicago has shocked many whites in other big cities across the country. They may say little publicly, but the idea of moderation and gradualism in handling the race problem, as differentiated from impulsiveness and extremism, will gain their

THE COUNTRY has witnessed a strange indifference by officials to the outbursts of lawlessness and disorder in the last several months. As things stand now there is little question about the lean, patrician Pennsylvanian coming in for a full share of "bloodying." What remains in question is whether the sacrifice will prove to have been worthwhile.

The governor, last year's leader of a desperate late-hour effect to block the nomination of Barry Goldwater at San Francisco, believes that the sacrifice will pay off. It's a solid Scranton conviction, reached after months of reflection, that the "radical fringe" of GOP conservatism must go, and that the only way to start it moving in this direction is to make it

The governor's recent speech in Miami was the opening of what will doubtless be a longterm effort aimed at elevating right wing tempers to the point where they will quit the GOP. Barring a change of heart by the governor - which seems unlikely - the nation is about to witness a calculated effort by an extremely reserved and wellmannered politician to play the role of the taunting gladiator.

As those who know him can testify, this is a role the articulate Scranton can play with considerable skill. He can be both witty and harsh when he wish es, even though harshness does not come easily to him.

Scranton detractors have never questioned his ability as a fighter - when he is fighting. It's only when he decides that he doesn't want to fight that he shows up badly. As of now the governor's closest associates

William Scranton, who can are ready to bet anything that he is in this fight to stay.

> What is the fight all about? In the Scranton view it's purely and simply a struggle to rid the Republican party of an ideological albatross. The governor is convinced that so long as the Goldwater idealogues - now regrouping under the newlyformed Free Society Association -remain a relative power in the GOP there is no hope of the party becoming a major force in

> The Scranton thesis is that only when the GOP has rid itself of the extreme right influence can it begin again to appeal to the millions of swing voters, Democrats and independents, who regularly tip the scales in national elections.

A triumph by Rep. John Lindsay in New York's mayoralty this November would give the Scranton crusade a big lift, still another lift could come from seeing Sen. Thomas Kuchel return to California and crush conservative hopes of electing ultraconservative Ronald Reagan to the governorship.

Two victories of this magnitude would not mean automatic ascendancy of the Scranton movement at the next national convention. Bu t they would make it fairly obvious that the Pennsylvanian's argument has

SERMON: "THE CHURCH IS CALLING YOU"

As a climax to our successful Renovation and Budget Program we will honor God and the men who have so sacrifically supported this program by a service of dedication of pledges and gifts during our Morning Worship Hour. We feel that God has been good to us in our venture. Our church will continue to meet in the Memorial Auditorium each Sunday until the Church Renovation Program is completed. All other week day activities will be held in the social room of the church as usual. A Nursery is conducted for little people during the

SERMON: "THE CHURCH IS CALLING YOU"

As a climax to our successful Renovation and Budget Program we will honor God and the men who have so sacrifically supported this program by a service of dedication of pledges and gifts during our Morning Worship Hour. We feel that God has been good to us

Our church will continue to meet in the Memorial Auditorium each Sunday until the Church Renovation Program is completed. All other week day activities will be held in the social room of the church as usual. A Nursery is conducted for little people during the

Unbelievable

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the build ing of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse spiritual values. Without strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Then you will visit a travel agency, study maps, read travel books, and talk with those who have already made the journey.

And what about that far more important (and uncertain) journey ... the journey

The Church offers wise counseling from those who have studied life.

The Church presents you with a map formed from the fundamental truths of God and his directives for living. The Church interprets for you the greatest of all travel books, the Bible.

The Church gives you the companionship of the all-wise Guide, who made this journey without a mistake, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Agency, map, travel book and Guide for life's journey. Come to Church and find

THE CHERCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the build ing of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan and read your Bible daily.

Then you will visit a travel agency, study maps, read travel books, and talk with those who have already made the journey. And what about that far more important (and uncertain) journey . . . the journey

The Church offers wise counseling from those who have studied life.

The Church presents you with a map formed from the fundamental truths of God and his directives for living.

The Church interprets for you the greatest of all travel books, the Bible. The Church gives you the companionship of the all-wise Guide, who made this journey without a mistake, the Lord Jesus Christ. Agency, map, travel book and Guide for life's journey. Come to Church and find

Scotch Eggs & Bible Cake?

Helpful Hints And Tasty Tips Provided In Cook Book Recipes Collected By City Missionary Group In 1900

By CLARA HALL

How would you like to bake a Scripture cake, make your own yeast, prepare Scotch eggs, or just mull some buttermilk?

For the church and club women who think that they are doing something new in compiling cook books, let them be advised that it was being done way at least 65 years ago when the women of the Ladies Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the former First Presbyterian Church put one out

Ever read a preface like this?

"These favorite recipes seek public favor not so much to fill a vacant place in their line, but rather as a humble effort to add money to the missionary cause, of which there is great need. The price of the book is fifty cents, as low as we can possible make it, and we earnestly bespeak for it a welcome in many homes."

Here's a good book puzzle recipe which may take a little time, but get out the Bible translate it to bake a delicious

REMEMBER WHEN it was the ordinary duty of every housewife to make her own yeast? Here are three popular recipes and it sounds like you have to visit a brewery for the ingredients. If you can understand the direction you have it made.

QUICK YEAST Mrs. J. E. Toot

1 qt. mashed potatoes

1 cup sugar 1/2 cup salt

"Steep for 5 min. Add ½ gal. boiling water and 1 cup yeast. After being stirred down 3 or 4 times, put in jars and keep in cool place.

DRY YEAST

"Take as many hops as can be picked up on one hand, add 3 pints water and boil 19 min. Scald 1 qt. flour, stir well, then add 1 tsp. ginger, 1 tblsp. salt and 1 tblsp. brown sugar. Stir well and let set overnight. "In the morning, place it where it will warm a little. Stir it down as it rises 5 or 6 times and it will be ready to make into cakes. Take 1 small cup flour and

"Dry in the open air as much as possible, warm it up occassionally but do not make it too warm as it will kill the

"Take 2 handfuls of hops, 3 pts, water, 6 potatoes, boil all till soft. Pare potatoes and mash through calonder. Then strain the liquid in a perserving kettle and put over the fire, adding the potatoes, also 1 cup sugar, 1 tblsp. salt, 1 tblsp. ginger, adding enough flour to make the consistency of paste. "Boil 5 min., stirring all the time. Turn out when partially cool, add 1/2 pt. of good yeast. Let stand until fermentation takes place. Put in a jug and keep in cool place.

"A great many wives are utterly ruined by mistreatment. When they are frozen by neglect they are kept in hot water 'til they boil over, thereby losing much of their natural sweetter out, others are so often in a pickle that it is small wonder they are short and crispy. Some use the chafing dish and waste them in the presence of company. This will certainly cause them to wither

"Some are kept in such a stew that they continually sput-

"Nor do we think roasting is the best way to preserve, it always causes them to shrivel up. Bathe them in smiles, remove any imperfections tenderly, use the same condiments to retain which were used in procuring.

"Make a syrup pound for pound. See that they are equal, for complete failures have occurred by the pounds (blows) on one side being over weight, thus causing separation of the fruit. In this syrup put some approbation, whole confidence, pinch (hug) of appreciation, add conveniences from time to time, and all the "root of evil" possible, for many failures are from the lack of this article. If necessary, a few grains of economy will do no harm

"If available some luxuries will brighten and clear up syrup. Never stir them with jealously or their color will be changed, simmer gently, watch that they do not adhere to the kettle, for this causes them to become insipid and to lose their flavor

"Keep adding kindness, this causes bubbles in the center of the mass and prevents them from becoming crusty and tough about the edges. They will not keep in family jars, nothing but natural sealers (kisses) will keep them.

"If this recipe is followed, it is warranted to keep them from bridal to separation-day sweet and delicious at all times, but indifference and carelessness will cause them to become wrinkled and sour at any time. The utmost care must be given to the temperature, in which they are kept, in the hot weather they should have a change of air, mountain or sea airs preferred. It is best to seal often."

The Bible is checked by Mrs. Donald Duke of Midway Ln. for ingredients in the Scripture Cake which she baked this week from a recipe in a 1900 cook book.

Gymnastics is the theme for two new stamps issued by Austria. The stamps honor the "4th Gymnaestrada" held in Vienna last month. The 1.50 schilling blue - gray shows two male gymnasts on the practice bars. The 3 schilling light brown depicts two female gymnasts with tambourines.

The Gymnaestrada is an event sponsored by the International Federation of Gym-

Israel will issue an unusual set of six stamps Sept. 7 to honor the Hebrew New Year Festival for 1965 corresponding to the Hberew calendar year 5726. The stamps tell the story of the creation of the world according to Genesis. Chapter 1. On each stamp is an allegory of the accomplishment of each day of creation, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America.

Each drawing is composed of luminous lines against a dark background representing the void of unending space. The lowest value shows the creation of light. Other stamps depict the creation of waters, land and life. The sixth stamp is for the creation of man.

The latest nation to issue stamps honoring the International Cooperation Year is Pakistan. The main feature of the design is the insignia of "Cooperation" in an eclipse. The slogan "Peace and Progress Through Cooperation" is imprinted on each. The words 'Pakistan" in Urdu and Bengali appear atop the adhesive. The same in English is at the black. The 50 paisa is yelow and green.

Two stamp shows sponsored by the American Stamp Dealers Association have been prominently mentioned in the philatelic trade press. IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear husband and father. Homer E. Higgins, who passed away August 21, 1954.

21, 1954.
May you always walk in sunshine God's love around you glow For the happiness you gave us. No one will ever know. It broke our hearts to lose you But you did not go alone For part of us went with you The day God called you home. From his loving wife, children and grandchildren.

BESSIE BAILEY. In loving memory of our dear wife, mother, and grandmother, who passed away 4 years ago Aug. 20, 1961. Today recalls sad memories, Of a dear one gone to rest, And the ones who think of her today, Are the ones who loved her best. Her hus-band, children, and grandchildren.

Bessie M. Tilton—In memory of our wife, mother, and grandmother who passed away 6 years ago Aug. 22.

IN MEMORIAM

God's love around you glow
For the happiness you gave us.
No one will ever know.
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
From his loving wife, children and grandchildren.

BESSIE BAILEY. In loving memory of our dear wife, mother, and grandmother, who passed away 4 years ago Aug 20, 1961. Today recalls sad memories. Of a dear one gone to rest, And the ones who think of her today. Are the ones who loved her best. Her husband, children, and grandchildren.

Junior Editors Quiz on-DOGS

QUESTION: Why does a dog bury his food?

ANSWER: Our domestic dogs are descended from wild dogs which once had to depend entirely on themselves. There was no kind master around those dogs to open up a can of delicious food if a wild dog got hungry. Wild dogs developed certain ways of caring for themselves. Although they were good fighters and had sharp teeth, they were no match for the larger predators, such as the big cats. Working together, a group of wild dogs could bring down a medium-sized game animal; but then they might be driven away from their kill by a lion, tiger or leopard. Wild dogs developed certain ways of meeting this situation. They gabbled up their fact in a of meeting this situation. They gobbled up their food in a tremendous hurry before anything could drive them away. And if there was something left over, wild dogs buried it so that later on they could come back and have another feast. In our picture, an ancestor of our modern dogs is shown digging a hole in which to place a left-over meat supply. He may not be in time. A long legged cheetah is about to spring out and steal his food. Modern dogs have inherited these habits. They still proble their food, in a hurry and try to hurry. habits. They still gobble their food in a hurry and try to bury a bone under the living room carpet or elsewhere. They love and trust their masters; but these ancient habits are too deeply ingrained for them to resist.

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch your dog. Notice how he gobbles up the food even though there is no reason for haste.

Gloria Matli of New York Mills, Minn, wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: Why does a dog bury his food?

* * * ANSWER: Our domestic dogs are descended from wild dogs which once had to depend entirely on themselves. There was no kind master around those dogs to open up developed delicious food if a wild dog got hungry. Wild dogs developed certain ways of caring for themselves. Although match for match for good fighters and had sharp teeth, they were no match for the larger predators, such as the big cals, working together, a group of wild dogs could bring down a medium sized game animal; but then they might be driven away from their kill by a lion, tiger or leopard. Wild dogs developed certain ways of meeting this situation. They gobbled up their food in a tremendous hurry before anything could drive them away. And if there was something left over, wild dogs buried it so that later on they could come back and have another feast. In our picture, an ancestor of our modern dogs is shown digging a hole in which to place a left-over mean at to Spring may not be in time. A long legged cheer to Spring may not be in time. A long legged cheetah is about to spring out and steal his food. Modern dogs have inherited these habits. They still gobble their food in a have inherent to bury a bone under the living room carpet or elsewhere are too and trust their masters; but these ancient habits are too deeply ingrained for them to resist.

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch your dog. Notice how he gobbles up the food even though there is no reason for haste.
